

PRESS RELEASE

2013 LOTUS F1 JUNIOR TEAM ANNOUNCED

THE YOUNG ONES

Lotus F1 Team is proud to announce its roster of drivers for the newly launched Lotus F1 Junior Team. The seven drivers announced today will be supported by the team in all areas of driving skills, physical fitness, health and nutrition, social and mental development, business ethics and principals, as well as PR training.

The seven drivers will contest within a variety of motorsport championships from the World Series by Renault Formula Renault 3.5 Series through the Eurocup Formula Renault 2.0 to KF category karting.

Eric Boullier:

“Lotus F1 Junior Team takes our previous i-Race Professional young driver academy and builds on it to be more closely aligned with the Formula 1 team and all the benefits brought by this association. We have announced seven highly talented drivers, many of whom will be competing against their fellow team-mates from the programme. We’re offering an in-depth and highly beneficial training regime which should encourage these drivers to develop and perform at their very best. Motorsport can be very daunting for young drivers, particularly everything that occurs away from the track, so we hope to give our drivers the very best preparation possible for their future careers.”

THE 2013 LOTUS F1 JUNIOR TEAM LINE-UP

Marco Sørensen, 22, Denmark, FR 3.5 with Lotus World Series Team

Marlon Stockinger, 21, Philippines, FR 3.5 with Lotus World Series

Alex Fontana, 20, Switzerland, GP3 with Jenzer Motorsport

Oscar Tunjo, 7, Colombia, Eurocup FR 2.0 with Kaufmann Racing

Esteban Ocon, 16, France, Eurocup FR 2.0 with ART Junior Team

Alexander Albon, 16, Thailand, Eurocup FR 2.0 team TBA

Dorian Boccia, 14, France, Go Kart International KF, Energy Corse

CHECK THIS OUT!

We just can't get enough of the artistic stuff! Check out our new Pinterest page for all the best behind-the-scenes shots from our Formula 1 travels, in addition to a great selection of pictures from the fans!

KEEP IN TOUCH!

Pre-season testing resumes in Barcelona, with the on-track action kicking off on Tuesday 19th February 2013. In the meantime, stay tuned to our Official Website, Twitter feed, Facebook profile and Google+ page for all the latest news from Enstone.